AFRICA, EAST COAST—PUNGUE RIVER ENTRANCE.

Buoyage, channels, &c.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 216 of 1900) that the following information respecting the buoyage and channels, Pungue river entrance, is derived from a report, dated 24th February 1900, received from Captain W. S. Rees, H M S. Thetis :—

No. 5 buoy. This buoy was found to be then situated with the south extreme of Massique point bearing N. 29° W, distant 2¼ miles, and point Jea tower N. 45° E.

Approximate position, lat. 19° 55′ 30″ S., long. 34° 49′ 0″ E.

The Captain of the port of Beira has also given information, dated 10th February 1900 that on 1st June 1900 the buoyage will be changed to a uniform system as follows :—

Buoys on the starboard side of the channel in entering will be coloured red, and numbered from seaward Nos. 2, 6, 8 ; buoys on the port side of the channel will be black, and numbered Nos. 1, 3, 4, 5, and 9. The colour only, not the shape or topmark, is the distinctive characteristic showing on which side the buoy should be passed.

In February 1900, there were, after passing No. 6 buoy, two navigable channels to the anchorage, the western of the two passing close to Massique point and the coast to the northward being the deeper and more intricate The eastern channel which lies between Nos. 5 and 7 buoys was, however, the one generally used. In it the depth is about 20 feet at high water. The note on the Chart has, therefore, been amended.

CAUTION.—As the banks are liable to change, local knowledge is necessary before attempting to enter.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·5 higher; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew Standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N.B.—In the column "Miles recorded" the movement of wind from 8 A.M. of the day for which it is shown to 8 A.M. of the following day is given.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

Prospectus for Admission.

THIS School is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors: it owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The School was formally opened on 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60, of whom only 15 can be other than Beharis by race (viz., natives of the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, or Bengalis domiciled in Bihar); but should the number of suitable applicants who are Beharis by race be insufficient to fill up the 45 vacancies, then the vacancies thus occurring can be given to those applicants who are natives of the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, or Bengalis domiciled in Bihar, in that order.

3. The School, as at present constituted, is chiefly engaged in training students for appointment as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of Elementary Mathematics.
(2) Careful training in Survey work.
(3) Drawing, both Freehand and Engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice with hand tools and with machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department. The necessary additional buildings are in process of construction; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this School, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next session will commence on 2nd July 1900.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable for one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the school, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, must be Biharis by race or domicile, or natives of the North-Western Provinces or Central Provinces, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below :—

(1) The Entrance Examination of an Indian University in English and Mathematics.
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European Schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests and who are otherwise eligible will have to pass an examination in English and Mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 6th and 7th July respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars :—

(a) Name, address and occupation of father or guardian
(b) Race and religion, and evidence to show that he is either a Bihari or a native of the North-Western Provinces or Central Provinces or a domiciled Bengali.
(c) A certificate of good moral character.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age)
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.
(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin student is taught Elementary Surveying with a corresponding amount of Mathematics and of Geometrical Drawing. He will not be admitted to the Workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department, who fails to pass the examination for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of Elementary Surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class, may at his option leave the school with an Amin certificate.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the session that commences 2nd July 1900, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1900.

10. Every candidate for admission to the School must bring a certificate of good character from the Head of the Institution from which he has come.

11. All candidates for admission to the School should present themselves personally at the School on the 1st July.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Session 1900-1901.

UPPER CLASS.

FOR admission to this class, an applicant must have one of the following qualifications :—

(i) He must have passed the F.E. examination of the Calcutta University and be under 23 years of age, but no student will be allowed to join the Agricultural class after the expiration of five years from admission into the Engineering College.

(ii) He must have passed the B.A. examination of the Calcutta University by the B Course, or possess other sufficient educational qualifications, be under 23 years of age, and in addition have received a nomination from the Bengal Government.

(iii) He must have had a general education qualifying him to follow the instruction in the Upper Agricultural class, and must also receive a nomination from Government for admission as a special student. To be eligible for a nomination under this rule, a candidate must either have landed property of his own, or be recommended by some influential landholder who desires to train him to take part in the management of his estate, or he must otherwise satisfy Government that he intends to make practical use of his agricultural training. Students entering under this rule will be termed Special Agricultural students. They will not be subject to any maximum limit of age, but will not be entitled to the privileges conferred on the passed students under rules 11 and 12, even though they should obtain fully signed diplomas in due course after passing the necessary examinations.

Every candidate for admission to this Department must apply in writing to the Principal not later than the 14th July. The form of application is given in Appendix A. In the event of the form not being properly filled up and accompanied by the necessary certificates, no notice will be taken of the application.

The number to be nominated each year will depend on the accommodation available.

Every applicant, not already a student of the College, must undergo a medical examination by the College Surgeon before admission to this Department. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

The session begins on the 5th November. The course of instruction in the Upper Agricultural class will extend over two years.

Senior scholarships held by students when passing the F.E. examination are tenable in the Agricultural Department.

One graduate scholarship of Rs. 30 a month, tenable for one year, will be awarded on the result of the examination held at the end of the first academic year.

Two appointments annually are assigned to students holding a fully signed diploma: one in the Provincial Executive Service and one in the Subordinate Executive Service. The right of selection for this appointment will rest with Government, and the students who gained the highest marks at the examination for diplomas will not necessarily be selected.

Holders of fully signed Agricultural diplomas, who do not get the guaranteed appointments referred to in rule 11, but who wish to compete for the examination for admission to the Provincial, Subordinate Executive and Opium Services, may submit their names through the Principal to Government for nominations. These applications for nominations will be considered, provided the applicants appear to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor to be otherwise suitable for admission to these services.

Each student in the Upper Agricultural Department will be required to pay an admission fee of Rs. 10.

F.E.'s who elect to join the Agricultural Department immediately after passing the F.E. examination are exempted from the payment of this fee, as their names are already borne on the College books.

For the present no tuition fees will be charged to students in the Agricultural Department, except in the case of those joining as special students under rule 3 (iii). The tuition fees for these students will be Rs. 8 a month.

Nominations.

Applicants for admission who require nominations under rule 3 (ii) and (iii) will apply for nominations through the Principal. The form of application for nomination is given in Appendix C.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

Approach to Port Adelaide.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 177, dated 16th September 1899, issued by this office, the President, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given further notice (No. 2 of 1900) informing Masters of vessels and others that the erection of the new Lighthouse on Wonga Shoal, Port Adelaide, will be commenced at an early date, and that during the continuance of the work a temporary riding light will be exhibited between sunset and sunrise from the works in progress on that shoal. For a period of about one month before the new light is exhibited from Wonga Shoal, the existing Port Adelaide illuminating apparatus will be removed from its present position at the entrance to the River. During its transfer to the Wonga Shoal Tower a Light of the third order, revolving every thirty seconds (as at present), visible for about fifteen (15) miles, will be exhibited from a temporary tower erected on the position now occupied by the Port Adelaide Lighthouse.

Further notices as to the precise dates of exhibition of the Riding Light at Wonga Shoal, the removal of the existing Port Adelaide Light, the exhibition of the temporary light in lieu thereof, and the first exhibition of the permanent light on Wonga Shoal, will be given in due course.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1900.

THE chief features of weather in Bengal during May were (1) the almost continual high pressure over the northern districts and to a smaller extent over Lower Bengal; (2) the frequent occurrence of showery weather in all parts of the Province, with the exception of Bihar, where it was less frequent; (3) the relatively low temperature due to the frequent occurrence of local storms—a peculiarity which was most noticeable in the south-western districts, where in May it is usually dry with high temperature.

Any divergence from normal conditions in May is usually due, as in the earlier months of the hot season, to shallow depressions, which move slowly over the Province either from west to east, or the reverse. In the early months of the year such depressions invariably move from west to east, and are no doubt connected with the prevailing westerly air current; but towards the south-west monsoon season it becomes more common for such depressions to move from east to west, accompanied or followed by the showery weather which by that time has become a permanent feature in the eastern districts.

Occasionally as in May 1899 cyclonic storms commence over the Bay, and, moving northwards over the Province, cause for several days at a time south-west monsoon weather, or, as more frequently happens, cyclonic storms of small extent originate in the Andaman Sea and move north-eastward into Burma. Of the former class there was no case in the month just past; and of the latter only a very small disturbance, which moved from the Andaman Sea into the Gulf of Martaban on the 5th, and thence into Burma, where it caused general rain. As will be seen later, it was probably the cause of disturbed weather accompanying a shallow depression which entered the Province from Assam about the 7th and 8th and followed the usual westerly course over the Province.

The numerous showers were, no doubt, due to the frequent oscillations of pressure, and it may be noted that they were most frequent when pressure was above the normal; whereas the period when rainfall was least common was on the only occasion when pressure was low over the Province, and a steeper pressure gradient than usual obtained over the Bay. A possible explanation of this peculiarity may be that the high pressure in the north caused a displacement of the air more towards the west than usual, and the rainfall which would otherwise have occurred in the eastern districts was diffused over the central and western districts. This contention receives support from the peculiar distribution of the rainfall for the month as a whole. It was deficient in both the eastern and western districts, and in fact over almost the whole Province, but over a comparatively narrow belt running north and south from the north-west angle of the Bay towards North Bengal it was considerably in excess, as if the heavier rainfall of May in the eastern districts had been displaced westward to the loss of those eastern districts.

Though rainfall was of so frequent occurrence throughout the month, and the number of rainy days was in excess of the average, the circumstance that the total rainfall for the month was below the normal is accounted for by the fact that no cyclonic storm visited Bengal—not an uncommon occurrence towards the end of the month in other years. At such times heavy continuous rain falls, it may be for several days at a time; and the normal falls for May are thereby largely increased above what they would be if, as in the present year, only thunder showers fell.

Of the shallow depressions which can be traced in the somewhat confusing but frequent pressure oscillations, two appeared to pass westward—one at the end of the first week, the other towards the end of the month; and a third from west to east about the middle of the month. The local storms with rain at other times were probably due to the moderately large pressure oscillations and the shifting winds which accompanied them.

At the beginning of the month the peculiarity noticed above in the pressure distribution was well marked. Barometric readings were more than ·1 inch above the normal in North Bengal and Assam. From there excess diminished towards the south of the Bay, and the gradient was less steep than usual, except over the north of the Province. Easterly or north-easterly winds prevailed, except in Chota Nagpur and Orissa, and temperature was below the normal, except in Bihar. During the early days pressure fell somewhat, and the high temperature extended to North Bengal, but there was little change till the 5th, when the small cyclonic storm moved from the Andaman Sea into Burma. On that date a general fall of pressure occurred over the north of the Bay and in Bengal, the fall at inland stations being greatest in the west of Bihar. Along with this fall numerous showers fell, and temperature was as much as 5° below the normal in the central districts.

Considerable changes of pressure and temperature took place on the 6th, with the result that the general atmospheric conditions appeared to have become normal in very respect, but on the 7th a slight fall of pressure began in North Bengal and Assam, and a shallow depression moving westward across the Province caused general rainfall on that and scattered showers on subsequent days. As it moved rapidly westward, it appears to be not improbable that this was the after-effect of the small cyclonic storm which had entered Burma on the 5th, and, passing over the Assam hills, was diverted westward with the general air current due to the Himalayan range.

A rapid increase of pressure followed on the 9th, and an exceptionally steep gradient was shown over Assam, and probably Burma, which supports the probability that the slight disturbance had passed over that area, and was connected with the cyclonic storm from the Bay.

During the week following, that is up to the 16th, pressure remained high over the Province, and after the rainfall caused by the previous slight disturbance ceased, comparatively dry weather prevailed, at first with low temperature in the west, which gradually disappeared.

On the 15th pressure began to fall, and the change became more rapid on the 16th. There was the appearance of a slight depression passing eastward and filling up on the 17th. To whatever cause it was due, general rain fell over almost the whole Province about that time, and showers continued, though daily becoming more scattered till the 20th, when they were confined to North Bengal and part of East Bengal. The rainfall caused a general reduction of temperature most marked in the west of the Province.

The high pressure which had been so important a feature of the atmospheric condition up to the 20th began to give way briskly on that date. The change continued with but little variation for several days, and from being in large excess, pressure became relatively low in the north of the Province. It was still high in the south of the Bay, so that the gradient was steeper than usual and much steeper than it had been at any other time during the month. Winds strengthened considerably at the head of the Bay, and the westerly winds in the western districts extended as far as Central Bengal. Fine dry weather then prevailed with high temperature and an almost entire absence of rainfall.

About the 23rd or 24th a change commenced in Assam. Pressure began to rise, and with the rise of pressure more or less heavy rainfall became general in the east. The change spread westward and southward over the Province, a rapid fall of temperature accompanying the rainfall. On the 25th a marked contrast was shown in the temperature conditions in the east and west. In Assam and the adjacent part of Bengal temperature was 5° to 8° below the normal, while in Chota Nagpur and Orissa it was as much above On the 26th these large variations from the normal had to a large extent disappeared, temperature having risen in Assam and fallen in Chota Nagpur and Orissa, to which the rainfall area had extended.

During the remaining days of the month a fall of pressure, which began in Assam, was passing slowly westward over the Province; and as the change progressed, showers continued in most districts, though not of daily occurrence.

Pressure as shown above was, except for a few days at the beginning of the fourth week, almost without interruption above the normal, and at times by rather large amounts.

The greatest excess was ·2 inch in the extreme north. As there was no low pressure to neutralise this large excess, the means for the month are above the normal over the whole area, including the Province and the Bay, by amounts varying from ·08 inch in the northern districts to ·04 inch in the south of Burma. In consequence of the high pressure in the north the gradient on an average for the month was not so steep as usual, and comparatively calm weather obtained.

Temperature at times varied largely from the normal, the variation being generally largest in the west of the province, though on one occasion referred to above excess was large in the west and defect large in the east. Because of that reversal the means for the month do not show any great variation from the normal.

For maximum readings the mean difference from the normal varies from excess of 2° in the east to defect of about 1° in the west. In minimum readings defect of 1° or 2° is general, except in Bihar, where there is a small excess

The average variations from the normal in the large divisions of the Province were small, except in Chota Nagpur and South-West Bengal, where there was defect of 1°, and in North Bengal, where there was excess of less than 1°.

Rainfall was more general than usual in the central and western districts; but as the falls were due to local storms and were rarely heavy, the total fall for the month is on an average for the divisions everywhere below the normal. The defect in East Bengal is 3·85 inches, in North Bengal 2 inches, and in the others half an inch or a little more. The only districts in which rainfall was in excess of the normal form roughly a narrow belt of country running north from the north-west angle of the Bay to the east of Nepal and the Darjeeling Hills. The excess in these districts is generally about 1 inch. To the west of this area a small defect is generally shown, while towards the east defect increases rapidly, and is about 6 inches in the extreme eastern districts.

The heaviest actual falls vary from 10 to 15 inches in Cooch Behar and Jalpaiguri. Over a great part of North Bengal, the eastern fringe of East Bengal and in South-West Bengal falls were generally between 5 and 7 inches. In the central districts they were between 2 and 4 inches and further west between 1 and 3 inches.

The following table gives full data for comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of May for all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-reporting stations in each district, due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the monthly tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the observations of the past 25 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different form, stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; g, gloomy.

N.B.—In the column "Miles recorded" the movement of wind from 8 A.M. of the day for which it is shown to 8 A.M. of the following day is given.

NOTIFICATION—No. 392T.P.

The 21st June 1900.—The following papers are published for general information.

E. N. BAKER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 67T.—Plague, dated Darjeeling, the 28th April 1900.

From—E. N. BAKER, ESQ., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept,
To—The Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta.

I AM desired to draw your attention to the enclosed statement* which has been prepared from the daily plague returns furnished by you to Government and which shows very clearly the progress of the disease in the Coolootolah Ward (No. 8), now one of the most affected wards of the town. The statement brings out in a striking manner a very noticeable feature in the spread of the disease, viz., that it does not work right through a street, but fixes on particular houses, its ravages being almost entirely confined to those houses, while the rest of the street remains free from infection. You will observe that in Machua Bazar Street there have been since 1st March 151 cases in all. Of these 12 have occurred in No. 1, 14 in No. 1-1, 21 in No. 1-II, 49 in No. 14 and 26 in No. 22, while the rest of the street has been practically free from plague. Again, in Phear's Lane, out of a total of 91 houses, only 8 numbers were affected, and 4 of these had only 1 case each, while there were 11 cases in No. 80 alone. The same result will appear from an analysis of the figures for Lower Chitpur Road and Kasi Nath Mullick's Lane given in the margin. It would therefore seem that in the affected wards of Calcutta there are certain well-defined centres of plague, comparatively few in number, and that if the disease could be thoroughly eradicated from these, there would be some hope of stamping it out of the town as a whole. In Calcutta disinfection has been employed as the most efficacious method of dealing with the plague, and Government has been assured that, except in cases of previous incubation, no fresh case of plague has appeared in a house that has once been disinfected. It is therefore assumed that the numbers referred to above are not single houses, but either bastis or tenements in which many families live. If this is so, then these figures show the imperative necessity of the disinfection of the entire tenement in which a case of plague has occurred and of the whole of a basti that has once been infected. I am therefore directed to draw your special attention to the numbers in the streets quoted above, and to request you to be good enough to obtain from the Special Health Officer information as to what has been done to check the recurrence of the disease in these particular localities. In Sir John Woodburn's opinion these figures strengthen the conviction, which he has held for some time past, that it is absolutely necessary to be prepared with wider measures of disinfection—measures which these very experiences must show to the people to be essential to their preservation.

A full report should be submitted at an early date.

No. $\frac{P}{828}$, dated Calcutta, the 29th May 1900.

From—W. R. BRIGHT, Esq., Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge receipt of your No. 67T.—Plague, dated the 28th April 1900, calling attention to the existence of plague in certain well-defined localities and calling for report.

In reply I beg to return the statement as requested, and to forward copy of a report by Major Deane, together with maps* in original, which I beg you to return after they are no longer required.

It will be noticed that your letter now under reply deals with three localities—

(a) Machua Bazar Street, | (b) Phear's Lane, | (c) Lower Chitpur Road, while the report now submitted deals only with the first of these. The reason for not dealing with the other two at present is that the work involved in tracing these cases is a heavy additional burden on the plague staff, and that if I have to wait for a full report on all three localities, much delay will occur.

I therefore forward this report which deals with the first locality only, and if after receipt of this you require reports on the other localities, I will do my best to get them for you.

I do not propose to make any remark upon the report, except that it tends to show the value of disinfection and this is, on the whole, the general experience in this epidemic, though there are, I understand, some puzzling exceptions.

Dated Calcutta, the 21st May 1900.

From—MAJOR H. E. DEANE, R.A.M.C., Special Health Officer,
To—The Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta.

I HAVE the honour to submit this report on certain addresses specially noted by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Machua Bazar. I attach a report in original by Dr. Hossack to explain the delay in preparing this statement and the difficulties that had to be contended with in re-tracing the individual cases and the places of death.

The plans* have been prepared by Dr. Hossack, whose detailed report forms the basis of these remarks.

In the part of Machua Bazar referred to by His Honour, which also comprises 7 Halliday Street and part of Syed Salley's Lane as component parts, there were 220 cases of plague from 1st January to 30th April 1900. These were accounted for by 13 addresses. The plan* marked Appendix I* will show that this part of the street is practically one large basti, and the huts are very irregularly distributed between the numbers, as reference to Appendix II* will illustrate, giving the frontage of each number, the number of huts contained and approximate population.

The red dots on the plan* represent plague cases which are seen to run eastwards from No. 1 Machua Bazar, which extends almost to Harrison Road, along Syed Salley's Lane, only slightly affecting Nos. 2-13 Machua Bazar on the north to 22 Machua Bazar across Halliday Street, only slightly again affecting a large basti at No. 18 Machua Bazar. Beyond No. 22 infection spread very little.

Reference to Appendix III* will show that the infection was later in appearance from west to east.

No. 1 Machua Bazar.—Dr. Hossack reports that "out of about 70 huts, no less than 41 were affected," and of these 27 had only one case, 6 two cases, 2 three cases, 4 four cases, 1 five cases and 1 nine cases.

Special disinfections were ordered in eight huts which were showing recurrence of cases and "were more or less completely carried out. Only two complete refusals and four partial refusals (including locked doors) are formally on record. Much more difficulty, however, has been met with than has been formally recorded, as in many cases so much preliminary objection was met with that the order for special disinfection was never issued, and the objection hence never formally put on record."

"In only two huts were there recurrences after special disinfection, and regarding these more must be said—

(1) "A large two-storied hut with 14 rooms below and 20 above arranged round a large courtyard—see Appendix IV.*

"There is a range of shops in front shut off from the hut; normal population of hut 100." There were nine deaths from plague between 24th February and 21st March.

* Deposited.

"On 26th February 1900 six rooms were disinfected. So far as is known none of the subsequent cases occurred in rooms disinfected on that date. Moreover, on that date two people had already become infected with the disease. On 3rd March 1900 and on 5th March 1900 14 more rooms were done and three or four were left undone. Janki was found ill the first visit to the house, and on 5th March 1900 her room was disinfected, completing the whole house disinfection as was thought, except two rooms. Apparently, however, only 20 out of the 34 rooms were done, if the figures returned are correct. Subsequent to this last disinfection are three cases—Sakhee, Chengoo, and Mathura. Sakhee was infected at the time of disinfection, however, and his room was definitely one of the rooms locked and not disinfected (confirmed by re-investigation). Chengoo came ill from another house, and was only two days in this hut before he died. The room he occupied had been previously disinfected. He is clearly an imported case."

As regards Mathura, on her death, 21st March 1900, it was found she had been ill at the time of the whole house disinfection.

"A good many of the inhabitants left, but there was nothing like evacuation. There were never less than 30—40 people in the hut. After comparatively thorough disinfection (none of the basement was left undone) cases ceased, so that the house seems a good proof of the value of disinfection."

(2) "A fairly large hut with about 20 rooms"—see Appendix V.*

There were four deaths between 3rd March and 15th April. "The first two cases were husband and wife. She was concealed in some other room when, on 4th March 1900, I went to see the room where the husband died. Both were on the ground floor. On 6th March 1900, 12 rooms were disinfected and four left. Only one of the rooms not done was on the basement—a lying-in room. The room in which Boodha got ill a month later was at this time disinfected. Paglee's room was not, though the room in which she subsequently died was disinfected. This case of Boodha is the only one I have come across in this basti of plague occurring in a disinfected room after such an interval as to eliminate the chance of the infection having been already present in the person at the time of disinfection. There is some doubt as to whether Paglee's was a case of plague at all, as a history of three months fever was given."

No. 14 Machua Bazar.—A large basti of 57 huts, all single-storied, with a population of about 1,800. Out of 57 huts, 41 have been infected with 53 cases.

In Amiran Bibi's hut, with 21 rooms below and 6 above, cases were recurring up to the 6th March, when disinfection of all the rooms was ordered and completed on the 11th March, when the cases ceased.

No other huts in this number call for special remark.

No. 7 Halliday Street.—"43 huts show 21 cases."

The huts in which two or more cases occurred show no recurrence after the disinfection.

No. 18 Machua Bazar.—"Out of 22 huts, only 3 were infected. I can offer no reason for the comparative escape of this basti. One hut had three cases and two one each. The three cases are all reported on 1st April 1900, and occurred in three rooms. Special disinfection was at first objected to, but was eventually carried out on 11th April 1900. There was no recurrence."

No. 22 Machua Bazar.—Out of 108 huts, mostly one-story, 34 were affected, 2 showing three cases, 2 showing two cases. In none of the houses did the two cases occur in the same room. No special disinfection was done."

No. 25 Machua Bazar—"Shows three cases in two huts." There is nothing special to remark.

"Infected two-storied huts show a plague incidence of nearly double that found in one-storied huts; two per hut against 1·2. That this result is more than accidental is seen on comparing No. 1 Machua Bazar, a two-storied basti, with such one-storied bastis as Nos. 14 and 22. No. 1 shows a larger proportion of its houses infected, and a greater number of badly infected houses than either of the one-storied bastis. Moreover, it is striking that in No. 22, the few huts that are badly infected are the few two-storied huts that the basti possesses."

On the general subject of disinfection, Dr. Hossack writes: "Out of 149 infected houses, 131 showed no recurrence after ordinary disinfection. After special disinfection one house showed recurrence and eight showed none."

There is only case of apparently undoubted recurrence in a disinfected room, namely, the case of Boodha, referred to above at No. 1 Machua Bazar. I am dealing specially with the subject of the spread of plague and how to deal with it in my report now under preparation. I may mention here that the facts observed in Calcutta prove conclusively the uselessness of attempting isolation and segregation in preventing the spread of the disease and point strongly to extensive disinfection as the measure alone likely to be attended with a modicum of success.

NOTE BY DR. HOSSACK.

Details of contents of numbers.

Difficulties in defining numbers and in recognising cases and disinfection from the books:—

Address No.	Frontage in yards.	Contents.	Approximate population	REMARKS.
1	2	3	4	5
1	200	70 Huts, mostly two-story	2,400	Runs to Harrison Road.
2-13	120	10 Pucka houses and 6 huts.
14	60	57 Large huts ...	1,800	Ditto ditto.
15-17	25	3 Huts and 1 pucka house
18	53	22 Huts	500
19	54	Musjid and shop.
20	...	3 Pucka houses.
21	...	2 Huts.
22	70	103 Huts ...	2,500	Ditto ditto.
23	50	?	?
25-28	133	36 Huts ...	...	The greater part of this area comes under Shambu Ch. Chatterjee's Street.
7 Halliday Street.	...	43 Huts + (28 excluded).

The numbering is so very indefinite that it was with much difficulty that the above return was compiled after much hut-to-hut visiting.

There are three guides to the number of a hut—

(1) The number actually on the hut.

(2) The number on the large scale map.*

(3) The number on the householders, taxes, receipt, &c.

The first is hardly ever present, the second is often wanting, or where it is present has no boundaries given, and the third is a subdivisional compound number which is to be found rarely on either the hut or on the map.* Moreover, it may have no relation whatever to the street in which the hut is placed. Let us take as an example 7 Halliday Street. The first guide is wanting altogether. Not a single hut was found bearing a number. The second guide, namely, the large scale map,* is also absolutely deficient, as no No. 7 appears at all. The third guide gives rather astonishing results, for a tour of personal investigation reveals that the number is distributed in three isolated patches round the intersection of two wide thoroughfares—Halliday Street and Harrison Road; that is to say, it is only part of the No. 7 cases that enter into this report and what part that it can be settled only by hut-to-hut investigation of all the No. 7 cases.

Much the same thing is found in No. 22 Machua Bazar. No hut bears the number at all as far as found; the map* defines the boundaries of only a small portion of it, and the house-to-house investigation showed that people who thought they were living in No. 22 were really in No. 18. It spreads back from its frontage (vide map*) so as to occupy the area behind Nos. 18-21. A large portion of it is in Nilmadhub Sen's Lane, on the south side of Harrison Road. The cases belonging to this part have had to be eliminated in making up the report. Incidentally Nilmadhub Sen's Lane for its first 200 yards shows no houses belonging to it, on our side at least, and on the other side some at least of the houses go with Bhowanichurn Dutt's Lane But even the difficulties of numbering by no means exhaust the difficulties of indentifying a case as recorded in the books. Thus according to the books in No. 14 Machua Bazar, Amiran Bibi's hut had three cases and Sheikh Jamon's had the same. But it turns out on investigation that only one hut is referred to with six cases. Again, in 22 Sheikh Bechoo's hut shows three cases, but investigation shows that one of these occurred in another hut, but altogether belonging to another Bechoo. Again, Sheikh Fazuli's hut shows two cases and Sheikh Faljaton's hut one case, but Sheikh Fazuli and Sheikh Faljaton turn out to be one and the same.

No. 311T.—P., dated Darjeeling, the 9th June 1900.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., C.S.I., Secy. to the Govt of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—The Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. $\frac{P}{S}$-28, dated 29th May 1900, enclosing a report on the results of disinfection in Machua Bazar Street and the course of plague in that locality.

2. In reply I am to request that the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor may be conveyed to Major Deane and Dr. Hossack for their interesting and valuable report. The result of the special enquiries made by these officers illustrates in a very striking manner the great importance of thoroughly disinfecting, not merely the room in which a case has occurred, but all the rooms in the same house and, as far as possible, all houses and huts in the neighbourhood whose inmates are likely to have intercourse with those of the infected building. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the results of the enquiry may be made known as widely as possible, and that every effort may be continued to widen the scope of disinfecting measures in and around centres of infection.

3. In this connection the Lieutenant-Governor's attention has been drawn to a recent article in the papers which describes the methods by which Mr. Laird, Manager of the Union Jute Mills and a Municipal Commissioner, has succeeded in carrying out general disinfection of the quarters of his work-people. This affords an excellent illustration of the way in which really valuable assistance can be rendered by private gentlemen of influence in furthering the official measures for disinfection.

NOTIFICATION.—No. 1267J.D.

The 26th June 1900.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 5 and 7 of the Indian Explosives Act (IV of 1884), and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to substitute the following rules (with the forms, schedule and table referred to therein) making certain amendments in rules 17 (1), (2) and (3) (f) of the rules for the manufacture, possession and sale of explosives, published with the notification of the Government of Bengal, No. 4971J., dated the 23rd October 1897:—

For rule 17 (1) substitute the following:—

17 (1).—The applicant shall submit to the District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency Town and its Suburbs, to the Commissioner of Police, on application on Form G, and shall comply with the conditions embodied therein.

Cancel rule 17 (2).

Alter the numbering of rule 17 (3) to 17 (2).

For rule 17 (3) (f) substitute the following:—

(f) On the completion of the inquiry, the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police shall forward the application and draft license with his recommendation to the Local Government. The Local Government shall then refer the aforesaid documents for approval to the Chief Inspector of Explosives, who will forward to the applicant a form H, showing the distances which should, in his opinion, be kept clear round the magazine. The form shall then be returned with the third column duly filled in by the applicant to the Chief Inspector of Explosives, who will submit it to the Local Government with his recommendation, and, if he recommends that a license be granted, a draft license accompanied by a schedule A showing the distances which, after considering any representation made by the applicant in returning the form to him, he thinks should be kept clear round the magazine. The Local Government may thereupon grant the license applied for, either in accordance with the recommendations of the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police or Chief Inspector of Explosives, or with the additions of any additional restrictions and precautions as may be deemed proper or may refuse such license. The table of distances which will ordinarily be followed is attached to these rules.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

(Railway.)

FROM D. JOSCELYNE, ESQ.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

TO THE PRESIDENT, CENTRAL RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Dated Darjeeling, the 18th June 1900.

SIR,

I AM directed to acknowledge your letter No. 19C.S., dated 2nd May 1900, intimating that the revised proposals of the Syndicate, formed for the construction of a permanent bridge over the Hooghly at Howrah and a Central Railway between Howrah and Sealdah, together with the revised plans and estimates, have been laid before the Central Railway Committee and considered by them. Your letter and the copy of the proceedings of the 5th meeting of the Committee, dated 27th April 1900, show that "with the information at their disposal, the Committee finds that the Syndicate's revised scheme (No. 3) is not in sufficient detail to enable them to form a definite opinion on its financial merits." A very detailed and critical note by

Mr. Wynne, the Agent of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, accompanies these proceedings. The alternative proposals regarding the Bankura-Howrah chord line, mentioned by the Government of India in their letter No. 6P.R., of 5th January 1900, a copy of which was sent to the Committee, were not considered.

2. A review of the case shows that the Syndicate submitted three proposals:—

I.—(Dated 18th February 1898).—For a bridge over the Hooghly at Howrah and for the Central Railway from Howrah to Sealdah, with a central station; estimated to cost £1,000,000, or in Rs. 1,50,00,000.

Then the Syndicate heard that the Port Commissioners were alarmed at the possible effect of the bridge they had designed upon the river and jetties, and Sir Bradford Leslie, from his experience of the Hooghly, probably realised the validity of those fears, for he promptly prepared a revised plan for another kind of bridge, and in the Syndicate's letter of 19th August 1898 a second or alternative project was submitted—

	Rs.
II.—Bridge, railway, and central station	1,96,50,000
Avenue (to be built by the Calcutta Corporation) ...	1,50,00,000
Grand Total ...	3,46,50,000

Lastly, the Syndicate heard that there was little, if any, prospect of the Corporation undertaking the street, so they offered to make the avenue themselves, and submitted a third project, dated 29th August 1899—

	Rs.
III.—Bridge, railway, and central station as in No II ...	2,74,25,000
Avenue	1,38,25,000
Grand Total ...	4,12,50,000

This is practically the same as the second proposal, the difference being that the Syndicate offers to do that portion of the whole scheme which it originally hoped some one else would do for them, and have added 66 lakhs to their figures of cost.

3. Similarly, as to the estimates of revenue, they proposed to finance the first project—

(I) By levying a toll of 1½ pies per maund on all goods, except minerals, entering or leaving Calcutta (whether they use the bridge or not). No detail was given.

In their second project they gave as follows a detailed estimate of receipts:—

	Rs.
(II) The total of 1½ pies per maund on all goods as above mentioned, except minerals which did not use the bridge, was estimated at	9,30,884
Net rentals from the new avenue (9,21,635, less 85,812) ...	8,25,823
Grand Total ...	17,66,707

Before the third project was prepared it was pointed out to them that they had taken credit erroneously for 3¾ lakhs on coal. In their third project they revised the coal estimate and entered a new toll on passengers. Their estimates of income in this last project stand as follows:—

		Rs.
(III)	(i) Toll on goods at 1½ pies, exclusive of coal ...	6,30,855
	(ii) Toll on coal using the bridge and on parcels ...	1,50,000
	(iii) Toll on passengers	3,50,000
	(iv) Net rentals on houses in their new street and of godowns, etc.	8,25,000
	Grand Total ...	19,55,855

The estimate for rentals and goods is less than in their second project. Thus the net increase of one lakh is due to item (iii), toll on passengers.

4. The differences in the estimates of cost and income are not so large as they seem at first sight on comparison of the totals, and the broad issues to be decided regarding them are—

(a) Could a bridge, with its Central Railway and Central Station, including approaches and junctions, be constructed for 275 lakhs?
(b) Could a roadway or avenue, for the purposes of that railway, be made for 150 lakhs?
(c) Would a toll on goods at 1½ pies per maund yield 6¼ lakhs?
(d) Would a toll on coal using the bridge and on parcels bring in 1½ lakhs?
(e) Would the proposed toll on passengers yield 3½ lakhs?
(f) Is the estimate of 8¼ lakhs for rentals of sorts supported by reasonable evidence?

5. The Committee declined to go into any of these points, because on some there was not sufficient detail. The Committee was, however, expressly made a broadly representative one in the hope that, in every direction of the enquiry, there might be some members qualified by special experience to give a fairly accurate opinion on the reasonableness and propriety of the estimates. For instance, the Committee includes a number of Railway Engineers with large experience of bridge building in India, who could surely find sufficient material in the plans to enable them to give some opinion as to the soundness of the estimate for the first item (a).

The second question, the cost of the acquisition of the roadway, has been always recognised as the most indefinite part of the scheme. The Committee properly asked for details from the Syndicate. These have not been furnished, but the Committee were expressly offered the services of two experts in land acquisition in Calcutta, who could probably have given them valuable opinions on this part of the proposals. Similarly, on at least three of the four items of income in the third project there are ample statistics from which a fair opinion could be formed.

6. I am to say that Sir John Woodburn hoped that the large and representative Committee would have been able to submit these main issues to the consideration of expert members, who would form themselves into Sub-Committees to deal with them. Thus the Committee would have been able to form some fairly accurate and very useful conclusions on parts, at least, of the scheme. An examination of this kind might not enable the Committee to pronounce a final and definite conclusion on the financial soundness of the scheme, but it would at least show where the weak points, if any, of it lay, and enable the Committee to advise the Government whether the estimates were sufficiently approximate to justify it in making the guarantee, without which the Syndicate will not now proceed.

7. There are three cognate issues of cardinal importance on which the opinion of the Committee would be of the greatest service to the Government:—

(i) To begin with, it has been evident in the course of the proceedings that the Railway Companies are strongly opposed to the levy of any toll at all. Now the scheme falls to the ground, unless tolls are levied on all goods that enter or leave Calcutta, whether they use the bridge or not. This universal toll is defended by the Syndicate in each of its letters. The Committee, as a large and representative body, should be able to express the opinion of the Commercial Community of Calcutta as to whether the Syndicate or the Railway Companies are right. Is the toll legitimate, and would the advantages to part of the traffic to Calcutta justify the extra charge on the whole of it?
(ii) The tax on passengers is another principle the propriety of which should be similarly examined.

(iii) There is also a third point which must not be lost sight of in this matter. The design of the bridge was entirely altered to allay the anxieties of the Port Commissioners in regard to their jetties. Are they satisfied with the new design?

8. The congestion of trade at Howrah in the present and in the near future is also a serious question. The Naihati Bridge is probably not half utilised at present—see letter No. 3876, dated 13th March 1900 (copy attached), from Agent, East Indian Railway, to Government of Bengal, and will serve the needs of through traffic, from Upper India to the Docks, for many years to come, if the East Indian Railway be quadrupled between Sitarampur and Hooghly and the Eastern Bengal Railway between Naihati and the Docks. This is estimated to cost Rs. 219 lakhs,* and if that estimate is correct would be a simpler and less costly expedient than the Central Railway scheme. It will be remembered that both the East Indian Railway and Eastern Bengal Railway have direct communication with the Docks and east side of the Hooghly River already. The Bengal-Nagpur Railway has also provided for its own wants in this respect.

	Lakhs. Rs.
* Sitarampur to Khana, 64 miles, at 1½ lakhs	96
Khana to Burdwan (East Indian Railway estimate)	12
Burdwan to Hooghly (East Indian Railway estimate)	54
*Naihati to Ballygunge (Eastern Bengal Railway estimate)	48
Total ...	210

If taken at a through rate for the East Indian Railway, for which there is no detailed estimate—

	Lakhs. Rs.
Sitarampur to Hooghly, 114 miles, at 1½ lakhs	171
Naihati to Ballygunge	48
Total ...	219

9. On the other hand, the Syndicate shows that both passenger and goods traffic with Calcutta has enormously increased. In their Appendix III they show that during the past 24 years the volume of traffic over the Floating Bridge at Howrah has more than doubled, and assert that passage over this bridge is now both inconvenient and tedious. In regard to railway traffic, the increase in passengers on the East Indian Railway during the past 27 or 30 years is shown to be nearly 300 per cent.; in goods traffic the increase is shown to be 415 per cent., and the coal traffic is said to have increased 1,328 per cent., and is rapidly increasing. The great increase in mileage of the East Indian Railway and in the construction and development of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway system during this period is given in figures which are impressive and easily checked. In view of all these facts, it is possible that the resources of the East Indian Railway, when fully developed as indicated, may in the near future be overtaxed, and Howrah may be so congested as to be practically unworkable as a terminus; that the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Ferry at Shalimar may shortly prove to be unsuitable and unequal to the demands of its system of railways; and that a new bridge across the Hooghly at Howrah may become a pressing necessity. If the arguments in favour of a second bridge prevail, the Committee should also consider whether, for all the purposes such a bridge would serve, the site most convenient and economical would be at Howrah or further up the river, possibly at Cossipore.

10. After the consideration of all of the above questions, it would be possible for the Committee to say, with some confidence—

(1) whether the Central Railway Scheme is really wanted at present or in the near future;

(2) whether the system of tolls proposed by the Syndicate is a legitimate method of financing the scheme;

(3) whether the Syndicate's figures are sufficiently approximate to make the scheme a practicable one;

(4) whether, on the basis of these figures, the three railways are willing to contribute to the entire scheme;

(5) whether the Committee recommend a Government guarantee being given.

It may not be possible to accurately estimate the cost of the Central Railway Scheme without the aid of costly surveys and designs in full detail, but the main issues are sufficiently clear, and the probable cost can be so far approximated, from existing data, that it will be possible for the Committee to arrive at a reasonable conclusion regarding the needs of Calcutta in the near future, and whether these needs justify the proposed methods and probable outlay. I am accordingly desired by the Lieutenant-Governor to request that you will again lay the matter before your experienced and representative Committee, with an earnest hope that they will be able to share amongst them the labour of investigating the various questions to be discussed, and aid Government by the invaluable expert knowledge which they specially and collectively possess.

11. Paragraph 2 of Government of India letter No. 6R.P., of 5th January 1900, refers to the suggestion made on page 4 of the "Histories of Railway Projects" to construct only the permanent bridge at present, the three railways interested (East Indian Railway, Bengal-Nagpur Railway, and Eastern Bengal Railway) taking up the project as a joint work. The proposal is to make this part of a project for a line from Howrah to Bankura (the southern portion of the so-called Grand Chord). Such a scheme would, it was suggested, "obviate the necessity for a new station at Howrah, and would relieve the congestion of traffic between Sitarampur and Howrah, and thus the necessity for the Burdwan-Howrah chord, or the quadrupling of the line between Sitarampur and Howrah would disappear." * * * "Improved accommodation might be provided at Howrah and Sealdah, and the provision of a large Central Station and the avenue might await further consideration." The Committee has, however, given no opinion upon this project; but it is an alternative so important, and the suggestion comes from such high authority, that the Lieutenant-Governor will be greatly obliged if the Committee, when they have come to conclusions on the last paragraph, will give him the benefit of their opinions on this further project for the relief of trade from the interior to Calcutta. To assist the Committee in this matter, the following summary of information at present available is here noted:—

(a) The Naihati (Jubilee) bridge is, as yet, far from being fully utilised, and all three railways have communication with both sides of the river already.

(b) This bridge will suffice, for many years to come, to carry the East Indian Railway coal and grain traffic to the Docks. It has hitherto been the continuous policy of Government, at the instance of the Commercial Community of Calcutta, to develop trade at the Docks.

(c) The proposed new bridge at Howrah would apparently be chiefly in the interests of suburban passenger traffic, and this alone probably will not justify the outlay.

(d) The new bridge by itself would be useless. The lines connecting it with Seadah, the Port Commissioners' Railway, and the Docks appear to be essential. A central station of some kind would be necessary, if only for passenger traffic. As the bridge would be on a high level, the viaduct must also be built and much valuable land must be taken up.

(e) The cost of this project is estimated by the Government of India at 250 lakhs: it is estimated by Mr. Wynne at 437 lakhs.

(f) The proposed Bankura-Howrah line in connection with the new bridge appears to have many advantages, but the question of the cost of the line appears to require revision, when comparing it with the cost of quadrupling the East Indian Railway from Sitarampur viâ Hooghly to the Docks. Mr. Wynne's figures, if at all sound, show that the approximate cost of a double line will be Rs. 285 lakhs instead of the 100 lakhs indicated in the "Histories" for a single line. The same considerations which urge the construction of a further double line from Sitarampur towards Howrah also indicate the necessity for a double line on the alternative route, Jherria to Bankura. This has yet to be estimated.

(g) The receipts from the proposed Bankura-Howrah line would, for some time to come at any rate, diminish those on the East Indian Railway, so that the net gain would probably only be on the new traffic due to the new country opened out. With the Jubilee Bridge available, and not worked up to half of its capacity at present, it is doubtful whether the prospective new traffic over the Bankura-Howrah line (apart from the cost of the new bridge and its connections, etc.) would of itself justify the cost of the line alone.

(h) The cost of the Bankura-Howrah double line cum bridge, etc., as compared with the duplication of the line from Sitarampur viâ Hooghly to the Docks may be shown as follows :—

	Lakhs. Rs.		Lakhs. Rs.
Bankura to Howrah (double) line	285		285
Howrah new bridge and approaches	437		250
Total ...	722		535
Duplication (two new lines) of the Sitarampur-Hooghly line and from Naihati Bridge to the Docks	219	or	219
Difference ...	503		316

(i) It has been ascertained (see letter from Agent, East Indian Railway, attached) that the congestion of the East Indian Railway is only on the length Burdwan to Howrah at present, and that relief along this portion gives relief above Burdwan. Thus it may not be needful to duplicate west of Burdwan for some time to come.

(j) Proposals are under consideration for giving this relief at an early date, by either duplicating this portion of the line, Burdwan viâ Hooghly to Howrah, or making a chord (double) line from Burdwan to Howrah.

(k) The existing traffic between Sitarampur and Hooghly is being facilitated by—

(i) increasing the number of trains passing stations;
(ii) increasing the station-yards of the larger stations, Sitarampur, Asansol, Ondal, and Burdwan;
(iii) introducing the English system of signalling with block instruments.

(l) The possibility of further congestion of traffic at Howrah itself, notwithstanding the relief which can be afforded by duplication viâ the Jubilee Bridge to the Docks.

(m) The inadequacy of the present Floating Bridge for future goods and passenger traffic.

12. I am directed to point out to the Committee that the proposed Bankura-Howrah line is a continuation of the Grand Chord line of the East Indian Railway system from Gaya to Katrasgurh and Bankura. The connection with Howrah affects the whole question of the double or alternative system of routes to Calcutta. On this important question the merchants of Calcutta should, in their own interests, be able to give valuable and conclusive information in reference to the trade and prosperity of the city in the present and future.

13. The consideration of the matters noted in paragraphs 11 and 12 above will enable the Committee to advise Government—

(1) whether they approve of the partial Central Railway scheme suggested by the Government of India in the "Histories" and its connected railway between Bankura and Howrah;

(2) whether the three railways would contribute to the partial Central Railway scheme.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

D. JOSCELYNE,

Secretary.

Accompaniment:

COPY of letter No. 3876, dated 13th March 1900, from the Agent, East Indian Railway Company.

No. 3876, dated Calcutta, the 13th March 1900.

From—J. DOUGLAS, Esq., Agent, East Indian Railway Company,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 350R., of the 3rd instant, and to reply to your enquiries seriatim as follows:—

(a) It is on the length Burdwan to Howrah only that congestion has so far been experienced. Relieving this section at once gives relief to the section beyond, inasmuch as trains can then proceed and not be kept back at stations by the congestion on the section ahead. It has to be remembered that, in addition to all the traffic from and to above Burdwan, the Burdwan-Howrah section has to deal with the many suburban passenger trains which originate from Burdwan downwards.

(b) I have no reason to suppose that with the section from Burdwan downwards relieved by the separate chord line, the section Sitarampur to Burdwan will not be able to carry all the traffic that will arise for some years to come. Besides the relief that will be given to this section by the Burdwan-Howrah chord in the manner stated against (a) on the section itself, the number of trains passing stations have been largely increased, the larger stations, Sitarampur, Assansol, Ondal, and Burdwan, have had or are having their yards very considerably added to, which admits of trains being conveniently marshalled; also—and this is a most important point—admits of trains not being kept on the running lines more than is necessary. It has been a frequent occurrence that owing to a train not being able to get into one of these larger stations because of insufficient siding accommodation, following trains have been kept waiting at all stations for many stations back, thus completely blocking the remaining line. In addition, on this section as also the Burdwan-Howrah, the English system of signalling with block instruments is being introduced, and this alone will increase the capacity of the line materially. In my opinion we are a long way still from having attained anything like the full capacity of the present lines.

I need scarcely point out that it is to the interest of the trade and the country, as well as that of the railway, not to force forward expenditure prematurely.

(c) The remarks in reply to (b) regarding the Sitarampur-Burdwan section apply practically to the Burdwan Jubilee Bridge also. On this section Hooghly station is being greatly enlarged.

(d) Over such a short length as the Jubilee Bridge it would be possible to pass more trains than are ever likely to be required to pass over it.

(e) See reply against (b).

(f) There is no desire in building the Burdwan-Howrah chord to interfere in any way with the local lines in the area this chord would traverse. This line is proposed to be built for the specific object of giving relief to the present main line, not with the view of dealing with local traffic, though doubtless when built the public may press to be allowed to avail themselves of its superior facilities. In the case of the Tarkessur Railway it is believed there would be no difficulty in coming to a suitable settlement with that Company. The Magra Tramway would, in my opinion, not be affected prejudicially: rather the reverse. In the case of the Howrah-Sheakhala light railway which the proposed chord line would run practically parallel to, that line would doubtless be affected prejudicially if the chord line were to be available to carry the local traffic of the country through which the light railway runs, but the chord line is proposed to meet a different requirement.

(g) Except as regards item (2), the cost of which would be approximately Rs. 80 lakhs, the East Indian Railway has put no proposals forward. The other items named would involve very large outlay, and I think from what I have stated above, it will be seen that it would be little short of folly to think of incurring any such outlay even in view of the possible future conditions suggested. The cost of the different schemes may be put down roughly at the following amounts—(1) Rs. 176 lakhs, (3) Rs. 207 lakhs, (4) Rs. 104 lakhs.

(h) & (i) I cannot reply directly to these questions. I can only say that I consider Howrah a good terminus for railway traffic. It has been decided to spend a very large amount in providing a new passenger station there—also in improving and enlarging the goods accommodation there. If the present floating bridge should prove insufficient for the traffic, it could, I presume, be enlarged and at small expense compared with the cost of the projects for a railway bridge, etc., which are being talked about. If a railway bridge should become necessary or desirable, the railways concerned would doubtless consider the question of providing it.

About 1,100 yards to the southward of the above position is a reef with the least depth of 6 fathoms over it.

The reefs mentioned from (d) to (m) are marked by discoloured water, though sometimes only so seen at a short distance.

The following reefs do not exist and have been erased from the Charts:—

Kurau, in approximately lat. 0° 47′ N., long. 117° 51¾ E.

A reef, in approximately lat. 0° 28′ N., long. 117° 40′ E.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BENGAL METEOROLOGICAL DEPARTMENT FOR 1899-1900.

THE following report is published for general information.

F. A. SLACKE,

The 21st June 1900. Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE been in charge of the Bengal Meteorological Department during the whole of the past year.

2. On the 31st March 1900 the number of observatories under my direct control was 47, i.e., one more than on the same date last year. The increase is due to the establishment of a third-class observatory at Purulia, the head-quarters station of the district of Manbhum.

3. There were thus 6 second-class observatories, recording observations at 8 A.M., 10 A.M., and 4 P.M.; 37 third-class observatories, recording one set of observations at 8 A.M., and 4 voluntary observatories, three of which record observations at 8 A.M. only, and one, viz., Shortt's Island, at 8 A.M., 10 A.M., and 4 P.M.

4. The following table gives the names and distribution of these 47 observatories:—

Second-class observatories.	Third-class observatories.		Voluntary observatories.

5. As stated in previous administration reports, weather telegrams from certain stations in Assam, Madras, Burma, &c., named below were received by me throughout the year for publication in the weather report issued by me. In the case of the Assam stations, viz., Dhubri, Sibsagar, and Silchar, telegrams were received during the monsoon period only, viz., May to October, for inclusion in the weather report, and for the rest of the year on post-card form for publication in the Bengal monthly meteorological table:—

6. Inspection of Observatories.—Eight observatories were inspected during the past year. The following table gives the names of the stations inspected, the date of inspection, &c.:—

Station.	Date of inspection.	Inspected by—
Bogra ...	25th and 26th November	Mr. C. Gaetane, an officer of the India Meteorological Office.
Cuttack ...	29th January ...	Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.
Chaibassa ...	30th and 31st January ...	Mr. C. Gaetane.
Dinajpur ...	16th and 17th November	Ditto.
Jalpaiguri ...	22nd and 23rd November	Ditto.
Puri ...	31st January ...	Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.
Purnea ...	19th and 20th November.	Mr. C. Gaetane.
Rangpur ...	29th and 30th October ...	Ditto.

All the observers have been well spoken of, more especially those at Cuttack and Puri, who have been highly praised by Mr. Eliot.

7. Second-class observatories.—None of these were inspected during the past year; but judging from the observations submitted, all the observers did good work. Darjeeling requires special mention, as during the past year great improvement has taken place under Mr. Gardner, a Government pensioner and the steward of St. Paul's School, Darjeeling. The observations throughout the year were accurate, and the various returns were submitted with care and punctuality.

8. Third class observatories.—The observers at Berhampore, Bhagalpur, Bogra, Burdwan, Cuttack, Dinajpur, Krishnagar, Malda, Narayanganj, Patna, Puri, Raniganj, and Ranchi submitted accurate observations throughout the year. The observations received from Barisal have greatly improved. With the exception of Faridpur, Rangpur, Purnea, and Motihari, all other observers did good work. The most neglected observatory was Purnea, where the observer, who is a Civil Hospital Assistant, seems to be most careless in his work. This observatory was inspected on the 19th and 20th November 1899, and it is much to be regretted that the observer did not benefit by the inspection.

9. Voluntary observatories.—In my administration report for 1898-99 I remarked that the observations taken at Short's Island by Mr. W. D'Crutz were not so accurate as those of Mr. Tasker, who resigned in December 1898, and I expressed a hope that the accuracy would improve with practice. It gives me pleasure to note that the observations have considerably improved during the past year and the thanks of the Department are due to Mr. D'Crutz for the trouble he has taken in continuing the observations started by Mr. Tasker. Very accurate observations were received from Cooch Behar and Daltonganj.

The observatory at Purulia was started on the 1st August 1899. The thermometer shed is in front of the district jail; the barometer is in the office-room of the Superintendent of the jail, and the wind instruments have been fixed to the highest part of the parapet over the doorway leading to the jail. The exposure of the instruments is all that could be desired. During the first few months after its establishment, the observations submitted were untrustworthy, more especially those of the barometer and anemometer. This was chiefly due to the observer being new to the work. I endeavoured to have the observatory inspected with a view to test the condition of the instruments and to train the observer, but the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India refused to sanction the necessary travelling expenses of an inspecting officer. The observations have since improved, though not to the extent desirable.

10. A new thermometer shed was erected at Jalpaiguri on a site free from the influence of the newly-erected two-storied telegraph-office building, alluded to in paragraph 4 of my last administration report, and the thermometers were removed to the new shed on the 28th July 1899.

11. The position of the Malda observatory has never been satisfactory. It became even less so owing to the erection of a hut and to the planting of trees close to the shed, which is situated in the Malda hospital grounds. I have therefore arranged for the erection of a new thermometer shed in the circuit-house compound on a site selected by the local authorities (which is believed to be good) and not far from the old site.

12. The following observers were granted special awards by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India for storm observations, &c., taken during the past year :—

Station.	Amount.	Station.	Amount.
1	2	3	4
	Rs.		Rs.
Burdwan	3	Saugor Island	2-8
Puri	2	Shortt's „	60
Purnea	1	Pamban	21
Rampur Boalia ...	3-8

13.. Work at and inspection of rain-gauge stations.—The number of rain-gauge stations on the 31st March 1900 was 355, i.e., 6 stations more than on the corresponding date in 1899. The increase is due to the establishment of the following stations :—

(1) Budge-Budge ...	...	24-Parganas district.
(2) Tala ...	...	Khulna „
(3) Deo ...	...	Gaya „
(4) Bano ...	...	Ranchi „
(5) Kurdeg ...	...
(6) Hiranpur ...	...	Sonthal Parganas „

14. Considerable activity was shown by the local officers in certain districts in the inspection of rain-gauges during the past year.. Two hundred and twelve visits of inspection were made, and it is satisfactory to note that on the whole the rain-gauges were found in good condition, the rainfall records properly kept, and the rain-registering officers well acquainted with their work.

15. The following table shows the distribution of the 355 rainfall-stations in the various districts in Bengal as it stood on 31st March

1900 and the number of stations inspected in each district during the past year:—

District.	Number of rain-gauge stations.	Number of rain-gauge stations inspected.	District.	Number of rain-gauge stations.	Number of rain-gauge stations inspected.

Backerganj	7	2	Tibet	1	Nil
Hill Tippera	1	Nil
Tippera	8	6
Noakhali	7	7
Chittagong	7	1

16. From the above table, it will be seen that no rain-gauges in the Burdwan, Murshidabad, Cooch Behar, Faridpur, Hill Tippera, Chittagong Hill Tracts, Shahabad, Saran, Darbhanga, and Balasore districts were inspected during the past year, while in the districts of Bankura, Midnapore, Khulna, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Dacca, Backerganj, Chittagong, Gaya, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Malda, Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Puri, Ranchi, and Singhbhum nearly half or more than half of the number of stations were not visited.

17. Hitherto rain-gauges and measure glasses were supplied to the rain-registering officers by the Mathematical Instrument Office of the Survey of India Department on indents countersigned by the Collector of the district concerned and the Meteorological Reporter, Bengal. This practice was found to entail considerable delay at times in the supply of rain-gauges, etc.; and to effect an improvement in this direction, an arrangement has been sanctioned by the Government of India, by which all rain-gauges, measure glasses and receiving bottles are now supplied by this office. A number of instruments of each kind are obtained on loan from the Mathematical Instrument Office, and whenever the breakage of a measure glass is reported, or when a rain-gauge is required to be replaced, new instruments are immediately supplied, and an indent signed by the District Officer is forwarded to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, to enable him to raise the necessary debits against the District Officers for the realization of the cost of the instruments supplied in the usual way. This arrangement has worked satisfactorily during the year under review.

18. Departmental reports.—The short annual report on the meteorology of Bengal in the year 1898, with two maps illustrating the actual and percentage rainfall, was prepared and submitted to the Government of Bengal on the 28th July 1899 for incorporation in the Bengal Administration Report.

At the instance of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, the Government of Bengal ordered the preparation of this report (which had hitherto been prepared in July or August) in March in future. The report for 1899 was therefore prepared in March, and an advance copy sent to the Inspector-General on the 13th March 1900. The report for 1899 was submitted to the Government of Bengal on the 30th March 1900.

The report on the meteorology of Bengal for the monsoon season of 1899 was prepared and submitted to Government with the usual number of illustrative charts prepared by hand. It was submitted to the Government of Bengal on the 2nd January 1900.

The monthly rainfall table of Bengal and the meteorological table of Bengal and Assam continued to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The charts showing the distribution of actual rainfall, the variation from the normal, and the percentage rainfall in Bengal were prepared by hand during the monsoon season, viz., May to October 1899, and submitted to the Government of Bengal and the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal about the middle of every month.

The Bay of Bengal and Bengal daily weather report, dealing with the observations taken at 66 meteorological observatories, was published from 1st May to 31st October. It was then replaced by the Bay of Bengal report, dealing with observations taken at 28 stations, which report was published during the rest of the year. Both the reports were published daily, including Sundays and holidays, and were delivered to the subscribers in Calcutta between 11 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

19. The daily flag-signal message to Saugor Island and the daily weather telegram to the Port authorities at Madras, Akyab, Rangoon, Moulmein, Negapatam, Coconada, Portonovo, Cuddalore, and Colombo were continued throughout the year. This weather telegram was sent to the Port Officer, Chittagong, from 16th May to 15th November as usual.

20. The system of forwarding meteorological information from the pilot-brigs at the Sandheads by flag hoists and that of forwarding a telegraphic summary of the weather experienced by Commanders of the steamers of the British India Steam Navigation Company during their voyages from Madras to Rangoon, Calcutta to Rangoon, etc., have been continued.

21. The thanks of the Department are due to the tea and indigo-planters, to the Moravian Missionaries at Pedong, and to Mr. Montgomery of Yatung (in Tibet), who have kindly sent rainfall returns during the past year, also to the Surveyor-General, Ceylon, for sending meteorological observations taken at Colombo and Trincomalee for the daily weather report, and to Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, the Agents of the British India Steam Navigation Company, for allowing the Commanders of their vessels to telegraph the summary of the weather experienced during their voyages.

22. Warnings of expected rainfall were sent to—

The Traffic Manager, East Coast Railway.
The Engineer-in-Chief, East Coast Railway.
The Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle, Cuttack.
The Executive Engineer, Jajpur Division, Akhoyapada.
Ditto, Balasore Division, Balasore.
The Proof Officer, Balasore.
The Superintendent of Telegraphs, Bengal Division.

23. Information of the occurrence of heavy rainfall at certain stations in Bengal was sent by telegram to the District Engineer, Roopnarain district, Bengal-Nagpur Railway, at Kola, and to the Sub-Engineer, Dehri Workshops.

24. Storm Signals.—The revised scheme of storm signals for general use, except on the river Hooghly, which was brought into operation from 1st April 1898, and under which arrangement the ports at Puri, False Point, and Chittagong were provided with the larger set of signals, and those at Narayanganj, Balasore, and Chandbali with the smaller set of signals, worked satisfactorily.

25. The dates of the principal storms and barometric depressions occurring during the past year are given in the first of the two following tables, and ne action taken in the matter of issuing storm warnings and hoisting storm iguals is indicated in the second of these tables:—

Table giving a brief statement of the storms which affected the Bay of Bengal Coasts during the year 1899-1900.

umber storm.	Period of depression or storm.	Character of storm.	Coast affected.
1	2	3	4
1	May 1st to 4th ...	There were signs of disturbance in the Andaman Sea during the last days of April, and on the 1st of May the centre of a small cyclonic storm of some severity was near Diamond Island, moving northwards. The tota' area affected by the storm was small, but within that area the gradient was steep, and there were strong winds with rough sea.	Burma and Arakan coasts.
2	August 10th and 11th ...	Barometric depression, which formed over the north of the Bay about the beginning of the second week of August, and moved in an almost due westerly direction towards the Orissa coast, and before crossing the coast became fairly well defined with a rather steep gradient towards the south and east.	Orissa and Bengal coasts.
3	September 21st to 24th ...	Cyclonic storm of moderate severity, which began about the 18th, probably in the south of the Bay, and moving northwards crossed the coast into Bengal near Saugor Island. The most noteworthy feature of the disturbance was connected with the rainfall in its being unusually heavy in parts of the track of the central area.	Ditto.
4	October 14th to 16th ...	Barometric depression, which appeared off the coast of the Circars on the 14th, and moving almost parallel to the coast line was in the north-west angle of the Bay on the morning of the 15th, and in East Bengal on the 16th, after which it rapidly filled up.	Circars and Orissa coasts.
5	October 23rd to 27th ...	This depression began in the extreme south-west of the Bay on the 22nd. The main feature of the disturbance, while it was in the neighbourhood of the Madras coast, was the heavy rainfall, especially at Negapatam, which received about 25 inches; and it is possible that this remained the most important feature throughout its movement northwards. But the strong winds at Diamond Island between the 26th and 30th show that squally or stormy weather probably prevailed for some days in the south and south-east of the Bay. Only a shallow depression reached the north of the Bay, and crossed the coast between Saugor Island and Chittagong on the 27th.	Coromandel and Circars coasts.
6	November 12th ...	A cyclonic storm of small extent, but of great severity crossed the Madras Coast near Negapatam in the early part of the day. The part of the coast affected by the storm extended about ten miles on either side of that port; and the time during which hurricane winds lasted was about three hours.

RESOLUTION ON THE WORKING OF THE EDEN SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1899.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 21st June 1900.

RESOLUTION—No. 1030T.—M.

READ—

The report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1899.

Read also—

The report for the year 1898 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The title of the Institution was during the year changed from Eden Sanitarium to Eden Sanitarium and Hospital—a name which shows more clearly the present object of the Institution. A hospital block is under construction, and a part of the present buildings has been set aside for hospital cases and is kept open all the year round. This alteration in character accounts for the increase in the death-rate from ·80 to 2·8. The number of operations was only 84, but when the new operating rooms are completed there will no doubt be an increase in the number of important cases sent here for operation.

Though the buildings escaped unhurt from the cyclone of September last, considerable damage was done to the grounds. The total admissions were larger than last year, and would no doubt have been still higher but for the interruption of communication and the feeling of insecurity caused by the storm.

The total number of admissions during the past ten years is shown in the following table:—

Admissions.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895.	1896.	1897	1898.	1899.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Patients	316	356	370	328	314	347	362	356	376	352
Relatives and attendants ...	86	151	44	31	35	73	102	57	40	76
Total ...	402	507	414	359	349	420	464	413	416	428

The number of residents in each class during the past four years is shown in the statement below:—

Class.	1896.	1897.	1898.	1899.
First class ...	47	37	62	68
Intermediate class ...	82	95	72	56
Second class ...	152	146	163	145
Third class ...	183	135	119	159
Total ...	464	413	416	428

There were 296 adult persons treated and 58 children, or a decrease of 24 compared with the total number of the preceding year. The daily average number of patients was 38·64 against 42·62 in the previous year. Debility and malarial fever were the most common complaints, and accounted for 70 and 66 admissions respectively.

Seven free beds were maintained during the year, four of which were for the benefit of patients sent up from the Calcutta hospitals and were paid for by the Institution. The other three are supported by memorial funds and are specially reserved for children. In addition, the Superintendent has Rs. 500 placed at his disposal for this purpose. There is still, however, plenty of room for public charity to supplement and extend this most useful form of help.

The total income of the Institution amounted to Rs. 36,800 against Rs. 37,882 in 1898. The expenses decreased from Rs. 36,774 to Rs. 34,398, thus leaving a larger profit than last year. In spite of heavy expenditure necessitated by the landslip, the financial condition of the Institution is promising. The average daily cost per patient declined from Re. 1-8 to Re. 1-6, owing no doubt to the larger number of third class patients, for whose comfort many improvements have been made.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that the superior establishment of the Institution performed their duties satisfactorily. His acknowledgments are due to the Superintendent and to the Committee of Management for the efficient working of the Sanitarium and Hospital during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. N. BAKER,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; d, drizzling rain.
